Roundtable discussion "Mobility Budgets and Fairness Concept: Case of Jelgava" (MyFareShare project), Room 322

Experts: Prof. Gundars Berzins (University of Latvia), Researcher Aldis Erglis (University of Latvia)

MyFairShare builds on the sufficiency principles to change mobility habits through individual mobility budgets. The project combines and expands relevant knowledge, data and models to construct a scheme for fair distribution of individual mobility budgets and identifies effective policy strategies. The concept is tested in six different Living Labs varying by scale (community – municipal – (trans-)national) and scope (citizen level– transport management level – strategic development level). The resulting policy toolkits and guidelines support the introduction of socially acceptable mobility budgets on different governance levels, improving urban accessibility and transport equity.

Project partners: AIT Austrian Institute of Technology GmbH, University of Natural Resources and Life Sciences, (BOKU, Austria), German Aerospace center (DLR, Germany), Lorenz Consult (FLO), London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE, UK), Institute of Transport Economics (TOI, Norway), Latvia University of Life Sciences and Technologies (LBTU) and University of Latvia (LU, Latvia). The project is financed by: Horizon 2020 ERA-NET Cofund project - ERA-NET Cofund Urban Accessibility and Connectivity (ENUAC)
